Overcrowding Results

1,648 Enroll In Cameron Schools

Overcrowding on Yoe campus was the opening day obstacle as Cameron schools enrolled 1,648, an increase of 31 over last year.

Integration of the O. J. Thomas and Yoe high schools taxed classroom space and lunchroom facilities.

Supt. of Schools D. R. Dodson said the most critical overcrowding was in the lunchrooms. Ada Henderson cafeteria served over 450 lunches Tuesday, opening day. This was about 250 more than they had served the first day of school last year. High school seniors, who would normally eat at Ada Henderson, were served lunches at Ben Milam cafeteria.

The overcrowding also has meant the loss of Yoe High auditorium and the Ada Henderson library. Dodson said the auditorium had been converted to a combination library - study hall. This leaves only small auditoriums at Ada Henderson and Ben Milam or the school gymnasium for school assemblies. The library at Ada Henderson has been converted to a classroom.

Dodson said present school finances could not handle the needed expansion and improvements on the Yoe campus.

He said a realistic list of schools needs would include:

—Improved science lab facilities for the junior high school level.

—Gym - fieldhouse with dressing and shower facilities.

—An auditorium adequate for high school needs.

—Expanded lunchroom for junior and senior high students, with modern kitchen equipment.

Dodson said that although the buildings were crowded and some library and auditorium sacrifices had been necessary, the classrooms were not overcrowded. He pointed out that only a few classes had over 30 students, and many in the lower grades had under 25 students per room.

He said, because of the high school integration, there were four unused classrooms at O. J. Thomas School this year.

"This l'il town could boom!"

It will....

There is an excitement in Camerontown beyond memory of even the eldest of citizens... an excitement of building, building, building all around.

It is real.

There are the streets, work begun this week. There is the industry, as one expands, one announces an open house, one inquires into Cameron location and still another works full tilt on orders.

There is unity, jostled a bit for accommodation at times, "an era of good feeling" most cities and towns never experience.

This is a town on the move.

Talk blossoms on funding of a million dollar hospital. Schools add to a widening horizon, a real horizon, not of fabric dreams, but of real fabric, the kind that goes into upholstery and dresses, the kind of fabric that means payroll and clanging cash register, new charge accounts, new bank accounts, and, of course, new problems, which also of course are preferable to the old.

Football is in the air. The pride of the Yoemen is growing into a sense of community acheivement, of community stature, of confident industrial, agri-business economics.

A bank expansion, a new downtown plan, additional water service, industrial park, new streets add dimension to a September of pigskin and dove hunting, shopping crowds, a record Booster Club membership, a mild temperature.

Leaders say "Can do!" Workers say "Will do!" Camerontown can't ask for much more than that, only that it continues for the expanse of community development that has years of aspiration effervescing through it, raising it to something real.

Other things of progress, too early to mention, are in the Camerontown wings.

"This l'il town could boom," someone says. Bet on it. Thousands are.

ALCOA SETS WORLDWIDE PLANS PROGRAM

Alcoa disclosed this week that it has instituted a new management organization structure aimed at increasing the company's decision and profit-making capabilities.

President John D. Harper said the reorganization was adopted to achieve the most efficient direction of Alcoa's world-wide activities.

"Our new alignment," said Alcoa's chief executive officer, "represents one of the most dynamic and constructive actions the company has ever taken. It is designed to insure our continued leadership by further enhancing our abilities to respond quickly to the complex new demands inherent in a rapidly growing industry."

Already in effect, the new organization structure...

Brings Alcoa's marketing and operating functions together to form general management responsibilities beneath the office of the president, who also is the company's chief executive officer.

Expands the company's long-time utilization of separately managed internal units possessing clear cut responsibility for the production, marketing and profitability of specified products.

Creates new career opportunities in management by broadly delegating decision - making responsibility for profit.

The major initial impact of the program lies in the expansion of Alcoa's profit center concept, whereby general management accountability for profit in designated manufacturing and marketing areas is delegated within the corporate organization.

Two large new profit centers have been created by restructurign the operating and sales departments. One embraces the manufacture and marketing of all Alcoa mill products. The other is responsible for the production and sale of the company's primary products, its allied products, and Alcoa's international operations.

Work Underway On City Paving

Survey crews and equipment of Slough Construction Co. are laying out construction boundaries on Sixth and Seventh Sts. this week.

First curbing and paving of Cameron's 100-block paving program has thus begun.

About 35 blocks on the two streets and Wallace Blvd. from North Harding to Block 44 in the Culpepper Addition are scheduled in this phase of construction.

Lengths of blocks on Crockett, North Harding, North Cleveland and other areas of town are planned in the major paving program, easily the city's largest and one of the most ambitious undertaken by any Cen-Tex city of similar size.

Mayor E. A. Perrin told The Herald last week he and the Council urged property owners on other streets within the planned project to observe the progress of paving and curbing along the streets now underway.

W. D. Bigbee, former public works superintendent and registered engineer, is working as inspector on the project planned by Public Works Supt. J. B. Earle and Joe J. Rady Co., consulting engineers who developed the engineering on the project.

The paving program began planning stages early in 1967.

Work began Tuesday, going ahead of a Friday starting deadline.

City officials extended appreciation to property owners who are cooperating in making the major paving project possible and asked their indulgence while the paving program was underway.

Magna-Craft Sets Open House Plans For Friday Visits

18 Now Work In New Plant

An open house is scheduled for public view of Magna-Craft, Inc., 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, according to president Cliff Logan.

Currently employing 18 people, Magna-Craft is producing medium and higher price furniture. Samples of sofas are already in the offices of the new plant.

"The public is cordially invited to visit Magna-Craft," Logan said.

Guided tours of the plant will be held for all visitors.

Cameron Industrial Foundation and Chamber leaders welcomed Logan's announcement of the open house.

Officers of the new corporation will be on hand to visit with Cameron area residents.

OFFICERS

They are: Loyd Burleson, vice president and a founder of Temple's Artco - Bell, Dudley Moran Kuykendall, secretary - treasurer; Kirk DeLang, a director; and J. Doyle Harrison, Sr., also a founder of Artco Bell, all of Temple.

Plant superintendent is Roy Alexander Chester, formerly of Morgantown, N. C., and now a resident of Cameron.

Woodcrafting foreman is Eugene Fox, formerly of Burnsville, N. C. and now a resident of Cameron.

Both men have considerable experience with noted furniture manufacturing firms in North Carolina.

These men will visit with touring Cameronites during the three-hour open house.

Magna-Craft is manufacturing Spanish, Early American, traditional and contemporary upholstered furniture in a variety of styles and fabrics.

Logan told The Herald in May when work began on the exterior and interior of the former McLane Bldg. that Magna-Craft's goal is "to hire and train local residents and develop highly skilled technicians that will be 'second to none' in the entire furniture industry."

18 EMPLOYED

Thus far, 18 persons are working the 30,000-square foot plant. Anticipated total employment will be 25 during the first year.

Exterior of the building has been painted for the first time in years and modifications made throughout the building.

Logan emphasized that stockholders and management men include men successful in the furniture business and related fields who "are seeking growth potential and investment earnings."

Cameron will have a chance to meet these men and see Magna-Craft's handiwork Friday.

Four Hospitalized By Head-On Crash

Michael Anderson, Larry Hillman, James Earl Aycox and Robert Lee McIntyre are in Newton Hospital this week with injuries suffered in a near head-on two-car accident Saturday night.

Highway Patrolman Milton Wright said the accident occurred .2 mile west of Cameron on FM 845 at about 9:40 p.m.

Wright said Anderson, 21, of Rt. 4 Cameron, was driving a 1963 Chevrolet pickup and Aycox was driving a 1966 Plymouth. Another passenger in the Aycox car, Rosemond of Cameron, was treated for lacerations at Newton Hospital and released.

YOE TRAVELS TO GIDDINGS; JV HIT FRIDAY

The Cameron Yoemen, still being sorted out for positions on the varsity, travel to Giddings 8 p.m. Saturday for a scrimmage.

And the junior varsity awaits the Killeen JV's 8 p.m. Friday at Yoe Field.

Coach Hal Stanislaw said team condition is "good". Two players, John Black and Dennis Crouch, are recovering from knee sprains. Lost for the season last week was Bill Perrin, 210-pound tackle.

Stanislaw said he hopes to have a team lineup "set" after the weekend scrimmage. He said several additional players have come out, but did not release names until another week of practice is completed.

He said that 25 freshman candidates are suited out and that about 150 youths from seventh through senior years are expected to play.

Stanislaw said the Yoemen, about 50 sophomores, juniors and only nine seniors, are shaping up, but the scrimmages will tell more about individual performance and play execution.

Stanislaw is seeking a backfield combination to replace a near wipeout of experience following '68's graduation.

Assisting Stanislaw is a staff of five assistant coaches, largest in the history of the Yoemen. They are: Willie Roten, first assistant; Ron Murdock, Don Robison, Roger Williams and Dave Siler, assistants.

MARLIN SPEAKER . . .

Kickoff Dinner Set

Howard O. Smith, M.D., of Marlin, will be the keynote speaker for the St. Edward Hospital Development Fund Kickoff Dinner, 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 10, at the First Methodist Church Hall, it was announced today.

In making the announcement, Robert Ellett, Development Fund chairman said, "We are fortunate to have a speaker the calibre of Dr. Smith for this important event. Not only is he an outstanding physician - surgeon, but he is keenly aware of the importance of modern health facilities to a small community such as Cameron, having experienced the building of new facilities in Marlin."

Dr. Smith, who is chief surgeon and superintendent of Torbett Clinic in Marlin, is a past president of the Texas Medical Association; a past president of the Texas Association of Obstetrics and Gynecology and Texas State Board of Medical Examiners.

During World War II he was a surgeon-commander aboard hospital ships in the Pacific and received 5 battle stars and a personal commendation medal and ribbon from Admiral Nimitz.

The Kickoff Dinner will officially mark the public solicitation phase of the campaign to raise $250,000 in Milam County toward the construction of the new $1,000,000 49-bed St. Edward Hospital.

Some 200 campaign workers and guests are expected to attend the dinner.

New Wildcat Set For 'Spud In' In Edwards Lime

A new wildcat was scheduled for Milam County late last week, the first test in several months since the drilling boom in the Milbur Field came to an end early this year.

The wildcat will be drilled by R. W. Cumley, a Houston operator, and will be an Edwards Lime test. Location is in the southwest corner of the county near the Lee and Williamson county lines. It is some nine miles southeast of Thorndale and about 15 miles from Milbur Field production.

Drillsite of the Cumley wildcat is on a 409 acre C. P. McWilliams tract in James Hannum Survey. Permit depth is 6,000 feet with the Edwards its objective.

It is due to spud in about a week.

The McWilliams is the first test set in some time for that area, which has seen practically no drilling activity since the big drilling boom in 1929 that produced considerable excitement but little or no production before it collapsed.

Can't Afford Injuries . . . .

District Depends On Yoemen Staying Healthy

By Tony Castro
Castro... Si Features

Cameron's loss of tackle Bill Perrin was a cruel blow, and Coach Hal Stanislaw is hoping it's not an omen of things to come.

Stanislaw believes it's going to take a healthy team for the Yoemen to win their fifth straight Class AA district championship.

The Yoemen are favored to do it, but Stanislaw isn't taking anything lightly.

"In order for us to contend for the district championship," Stanislaw says, "we have to have a minimum amount of injuries plus four or five more sophomores to come thrugh.

"A lot of times you can count on two, maybe three, coming through, which we had last year and we won the championship.

"But this year we'll have to have more sophomores than last year to come through before we're able to contend, not win it, but just contend for the championship."

Stanislaw is pointing to Round Rock as the team to beat, figuring the Dragons can't lose more than one district game.

Going on that assumption, Stanislaw believes the Yoemen can't afford to have more than one district loss when they meet Round Rock Nov. 15. The game will be here, and that may be all the edge the Yoemen will need.

"Caldwell returns a real healthy, strong line," Stanislaw said, evaluating the other top contenders. "They're strong defensively.

"I don't know what to tell you about Elgin, but Elgin will probably assume the darkhorse role. If they get the right breaks, they could win it."

The same can be said of the Yoemen, although one break has already gone against them in losing Perrin for the rest of the season because of a knee injury.

Perrin, a 6-4, 210-pound junior showed all-state potential as a sophomore when he won all-district honors. But Ronnie Richardson, another junior who will play at 6-2 and 195 pounds, may rival Perrin this season.

"I'll tell you what," Stanislaw said, "I thought he and Perrin were the finest sophomore linemen I've coached or been associated with.

"I expect Richardson, both he and Perrin, to come along. They have all the physical and mental qualifications to be outstanding football players."

Richardson and another junior, fullback Dennis Crouch, were elected captains along with seniors John Hosch and John Urban.

Urban will play at guard and Hosch at end. Jerry Richardson will be at the other end with Darrel Fischer at a tackle, Martin Mueck at a guard and James Nachlinger at center.

The quarterbacking falls on sophomore Robert Brashear.

"He's our only experienced quarterback on the squad," Stanislaw said. "All the others have graduated. Glen Fogle and Mack McKinney and the boys like that who have been real fine quarterbacks here are gone.

"So we're starting out training a sophomore. He's an average passer, good ball handler and is good on the mechanics."

The Yoemen will be running from an I formation with Crouch the fullback, either sophomore Dale Schigut or senior Thomas Jones at tailback and either sophomore John Black or junior Johnnie Steamer at wingback.

Defensively, the Yoemen are well-armed and Stanislaw takes pride.

"I figure that our strongest point would probably be defense," he said.

Just how strong?

"That's a relative question. Our defense should be ahead of our offense. I don't think it's going to be any stronger than three other ball clubs in our district particularly, and possibly four or maybe five. I don't know.

"We just feel that it'll be our strongest point."

It may well be, and it may be that that's the omen of things to come.

Stanislaw surely hopes so.

FHA Personnel Set Meeting On Checking MigrationFromFarm

A bi-district meeting of the Farmers Home Administration will be held in Fort Worth on September 12 and 13 according to County Supervisor Henry N. Ivey.

Information obtained at a regional meeting held in St. Louis on how to check the flow of rural people into urban areas will be discussed by the State Office staff.

The local Farmers Home Administration office will be closed from 1 p.m. Wednesday, September 11 through 5 p.m. Friday, September 13. Those attending from the Cameron office will be Ivey, county supervisor; Jimmy D. Newhouse, assistant county supervisor; Loretta M. Brock, county office clerk; and Virginia R. Wallace, assistant county office clerk.

Ivey said that through 138 county offices, the FHA in Texas will loan about $130 million to rural families and communities this fiscal year.

Last year, about $60 million was loaned for operating expenses. Over 4,100 rural Texans received loans to improve or construct homes. More than 660 farmers became land owners through the FHA Farm Ownership loan program, and nearly 250 Texas communities received FHA loans to build or expand water systems, sewer systems, recreation projects, and grazing associations.

Gun Safety Rules PreventAccidents

Safety is the most important factor to remember in the upcoming hunting season, says Wallace Klussman, Extension wildlife conservation specialist at Texas A&M University. Nearly all hunting accidents could be prevented if gun safety rules are followed.

It's the "over-anxious" hunter who endangers the lives of fellow hunters and causes needless damage to wildlife. Approximately two-thirds of all hunting accidents are caused by humans in the line of fire, humans mistaken for animals and hunters not using the safety catch on their guns.

Hunting only in season and respecting the bag limits are rules of good hunting sportsmanship, says the specialist. Also never throw away a lighted cigarette or leave a burning campfire, since either can start a destructive grass or forest fire.

Another good rule to remember is to respect the rights of others and to obtain permission before going onto another's property, says Klussman. Treat all property as if it were your own and don't litter the countryside.

One of the most important rules, but one that is often neglected, is to handle every gun as if it were loaded. Never carry a loaded weapon in a car and be sure the action and barrel are clear of any restriction.

In clonclusion, always be as sure of your target as you would want your fellow hunter to be, says the specialist.

Round Rock Favored....

Dragons Pose District Threat

By Tony Castro
Castro... Si Features

Cameron Coach Hal Stanislaw has shoved off the favorite's role to Round Rock, and the Yoemen's new skipper has a sound basis for his pick.

The Dragons made a strong run in their district last season, finishing second behind Class AA state quarterfinalist Del Valle.

And the Yoemen remember Del Valle.

It was Del Valle that pinned a 14-0 bi-district loss on Cameron, eliminating the Yoemen from the state playoffs. Del Valle went on to the quarterfinals where it tied Kountze, 29-29, but lost on first downs.

So this time it's Cameron and Round Rock who will be battling for the top in the revamped District 19-AA. The Dragons are strong in 1968, but tradition and the home field advantage on Nov. 15 have to make the Yoemen the favorites.

The Yoemen host the Dragons on Nov. 15, and Stanislaw feels his team can't have more than one district loss going into the fame.

"I don't feel like they (the Dragons) can possibly lose more than one in our district," is the way Stanislaw has put it.

And he may be right.

Round Rock returns one of the most explosive backfields in the area with juniors Chester Caldwell and Harry Mercer both having sub-10 second speed.

Junior fullback Monroe Daniels (190) provides the power with quarterback Chris Walsh (6-2, 210) another junior, leading the way with a fine arm and a flair for running.

Cameron, however, may have a friend in Georgetwon, whose bitter rivalry with Round Rock could cost the Dragons a victory early in the campaign.

Georgetown itself has to be considered a strong challenger, and Elgin wears the darkhorse label. Hearne picks up strength in numbers through integration, and Caldwell heads up the bottom.

The team-by-team picture of Cameron's opponents looks like this:

ROUND ROCK

The Dragons return 13 lettermen from a 7-3 team, and coach Tommy Roberts' squad appears loaded until you look at the line.

Guard Steve Gonzales (190) is the only returning offensive starter in the interior line. The Dragons will have to fill up with inexperienced linemen and face a depth shortage as well.

Round Rock has another problem on defense as Roberts has to rebuild the line where tackle Sterling Carlson is the only returnee. End Ronnie Campbell and halfback Glen King are other starters returning.

Speed and passing, however, do make Round Rock a threat, although the line play may be the Dragon slayer when it counts.

GEORGETOWN

The Eagles are short on size and experience, but they do return four offensive and five defensive regulars who could make them a threat.

Tackle Larry Crabb (6-1, 215) is the No. 1 Eagle in size, experience and range. He'll anchor the offensive wall along with veteran center Richard Diaz. Fullback Harlan Holloway and halfback Ike Hausenfluke return.

Crabb will play end defensively with linebacker Holloway another starter back. The other returning defensive regulars are linebacker Wayne Carlson and halfbacks Larry Moore and Tim Davis.

ELGIN

The Wildcats staggered through an injury - ridden season last fall, but return 14 lettermen -- including eight defensive regulars -- from a 2-8 team.

Size, however, is a problem and the Wildcats must rebuild offensively. Tackles Roy Rangel and David Mogonyo and guard Jerry Murphy return on the line with fullback Aubrey Lewis the only returning back.

Elgin has fewer worries defensively where the returning roster includes end Tres Rivers, linebacker Joe Perez and halfbacks Jeff Farris and Andy Smith.

HEARNE

The Eagles returned only four of 11 lettermen due back but has help in numbers with the consolidation of Hearne High with the community's Negro school.

Coach Ken Batson gets 10 lettermen from last year's Negro school team to go along with the returnees of his own 3-6-1 squad in 1967.

Quarterback John Wilson, running backs Mark Mathews and Andy Reed and tackle Keith Sawyer will be joined by transfers that include speedsters Wilford Hammond and Robert Staten and tackles David Moore and James Edwards.

CALDWELL

The Hornets hope strong line play spearheaded by guard Mike Worthington and the products of a good B team will pave the way this season.

Worthington has been all-district twice and is one of three offensive and defensive starters returning from a 5-4-1 team. End Ken Urbanovsky and guard Garland Flippne return offensively while tackle Greg Kocuiek and end Charles Rosas are back on defense.

Caldwell, however, lacks proven backs and overall depth and team speed.

Cameron Native Is Acting President Of UT El Paso

AUSTIN

Chancellor Harry Ransom of The University of Texas System announced the appointment of Dr. Milton Leech as acting president at The University of Texas at El Paso.

Dr. Leech is a native of Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leech.

Dr. Ransom said that Dr. Leech, currently academic vice president, will serve until a successor to Dr. Joseph M. Ray, the current president at UT El Paso, can be named.

Dr. Ray last February announced his resignation, effective Sept. 1, to return to full-time teaching at UT El Paso.

Prior to his being selected by Dr. Ray as the first person to serve as vice president of UT El Paso, Dr. Leech was Dean of Administration 1964-65. He was born June 23, 1922 in Cameron, and attended high school here, graduating in 1938. In 1939 he entered Lon Morris College, Jacksonville, and graduated in 1941 at which time he entered The University of Texas at Austin in the Department of Drama. In 1942, Dr. Leech entered the U.S. Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet and was commissioned a Second Lieutenant. After instructing bombardiers and participating in flight crew training, he was discharged from the service as a Captain in the U.S. Air Force.

Returning to U.T. Austin, Dr. Leech received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in 1948 and, in August, 1949, two weeks before coming to Texas Western College in El Paso, became the first University of Texas student to receive a Master of Fine Arts degree in Dramatic Production. He was awarded the Ph.D. degree with majors in drama and education from U.T. Austin in 1962.

From 1949 to 1951, Dr. Leech was an instructor in the Department of English, Speech and Drama at TWC. In 1951 he was promoted to Assistant professor and granted a leave of absence to serve again in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean conflict. He returned to Texas Western in 1953 where he served as Director of Drama and Speech until he was granted a leave of absence in 1957 for graduate study. In 1958 be became an Associate Professor and was appointed Head of the Department of Drama and Speech when it was formed in 1960. From 1949 until 1961 he directed some 35 major theatre productions at the University and developed a Summer Play Festival and children's theatre programs. In 1962, he became a Professor of Drama and Speech.

From 1962 until 1963 he served half-time as executive director of MISSION '73, the El Paso citizen's committee which made an intensive study of the University and published a ten-year plan for the institution. From 1963-64, Dr. Leech served as assistant to the president.

The acting president of U.T. El Paso has held memberships in the National Society of Arts and Letters, the American Educational Theatre Association, and has been active in the El Paso United Fund. BadgersReturnEight Lettermen To 68 Play

Buckholts' Coach Jimmy Hauk numbers eight lettermen among the eleven-man roster for the Badgers this season.

"We have lots of experienced players," he said, "but have no depth. One or two injuries would handicap us greatly. The players have a good attitude, however."

The Gadgers meet Milano for their first game September 13. Buckholts ended District 10-B play last year with a 4-6 record.

Senior lettermen are Alan Barkemeyer, 146, QB—HB; David Henson, 139, RE; Terry McNeill, 135, LE—HB.

Junior lettermen are Norman Haisler, 152, HB and David Zajicek, 140, C.

Sophomore lettermen are Gordon Haisler, 155, HB—QB; Michael Jones, 155, RE; Richard Kudlacek, 125, LE.

Juniors Kenneth Arnold, 200, C; Jerry Zelisko, 151, LE; and Leslie Massingill, 147, RE, complete the Badger lineup.

Edwin Voss is assistant coach and Jackie Zajicek is manager.

Outdoors In Texas—

By Vern Sanford

This is the time of the year when we begin to look for news about the fall waterfowl situation. Right now it looks bleak for a good season in Texas. Word comes from the prairie provinces in Canada that the country has suffered another drought.

Water conditions in most of the nesting grounds of the ducks and geese has been very poor. Transects run by field men and others reveal a significant decline in the number of waterfowl on the prairies.

From all indications Texas sent a heavy migration back up the Central Flyways, particularly to Alberta and Saskatchewan. But as unseasonable warm weather hit during the latter part of May, and a drouth gripped the area, the situation has become precarious.

In Canada the drouth is more severe this year than in 1959, as far as pond numbers and water levels are concerned.

It is well for Texas hunters to understand this problem. This state is at the extreme end of the main flight down the Central Flyway from Canada. Many ducks and geese stop along the way as they travel down along the east side of the Rockies. Some of them settle in the Texas Panhandle on the lakes and potholes. Others stop off at Lake Texoma to afford good hunting for both Texas and Oklahoma.

Still others take time out to visit a little at Texarkana, Lake O' Pines, Caddo and Dam-B before moving on to the rice flats of Southeast Texas or the salt grass along the lower Texas coast.

The Texas coast, along Laguna Madre and in the vicinity of Padre Island, definitely is the winter home of the red heads. We get some 77 percent of the total red head population of the United States along that lower Texas coast.

That is why it is hard for many hunters, who see these tremendous rafts of red heads, to believe there is a shortage of any kind of ducks. But the few thousand we get along the coast in Texas represent so close to the total that they must be preserved at all costs.

Farmers Union Confused With Protest Movement, Says Naman

An official in the state Farmers Union office at Waco has expressed concern over what he considers "widespread misunderstanding" by farmers and the general public which confuses National Farmers Union (NFU) with a midwest-based protest movement, because of similarity of names.

The spokesman for the Texas affiliate of the National Farmers Union, its state president, Jay Naman of Waco, issued the following statement:

"Texas Farmers Union is an affiliate of National Farmers Union which has been a spokesman for farm and ranch producers for over 60 years. It is not a secret organization. Both state and national organizations are legally chartered and the number of members which compose our state and national organization is public information.

"Our program objectives are developed by our membership through democratic process at the state and national convention. The officials of the Farmers Union must be responsive to the policies adopted by the membership. Farmers Union is an organization - not a protest movement.

"We do not make any exaggerated claims as to what we accomplish for our members or offer panaceas for the troubles in agriculture.

"We do not offer any quick, simple solutions for the complicated problems of agriculture.

"We do not ask our members to wastefully destroy their commodities or create bitter local disputes that result in violence.

"We do not ask our members to sign contracts committing them to the performance of acts which they might find unwise or undesirable. We do not obligate them for the payment of fees or assessments in the future."

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

The approaching election of ASC community committees for farm program administration in Milam County was announced today by Ted Ford, chairman of the ASC County Committee. He called attention to the fact that the community committee elections this year are being held during the third week of September in all agricultural communities throughout the nation in an effort to increase the awareness of this important farm program function on eligible voters.

The farmer - committee system is a unique means of administering national agricultural programs and policies.

The community committees assist the ASC county committee in administering the price support, acreage diversion, agricultural conservation, and other farm action programs in the county. They are particularly responsible for keeping their neighbors informed about the programs. The county committee supervises the ASCS county office and is responsible for the local administration of the various programs.

Voting will be by mail, and ballots are being sent to each known eligible voter. In case voters fail to receive a ballot through the mail, call at the county office to obtain one.

Generally, a farm owner, tenant, or share-cropper is eligible to vote if he is eligible to take part in one or more of the programs administered by the ASC committees. Eligibility to vote or to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

Marked ballots may be mailed or returned to the ASCS County office anytime before September 18. Ballots will be tabulated by the county committee September 19 at 9 a.m. at the Milam County

Questions on eligibility to vote and to hold office or on the election procedure will be determined by the ASC county committee subject to appeal to the ASC State Committee.

Health Care Cost Is HEW Meeting Topic

How to meet the problem of rising health care costs will be the main topic for discussion at a December meeting in Dallas. It will be one of a series of nine conferences throughout the country sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The Dallas conference will bring together, by invitation, the leaders of the health community, the insurance industry, labor, and the general public to discuss the problems of rising health care costs as they relate to the Southwest.

Wayman E. Register, regional commissioner of HEW's Social Security Administration is organizing the Dallas conference. Register explained that a major goal will be to stimulate innovations in the delivery of health services. In this connection, the conference will serve as a forum for discussing experimental projects already underway in the area.

County Agent's Notes...

Cotton Harvest Gets Underway

By J. D. Moore

Cotton harvest will get underway during early September with a light harvest expected the first ten days if dry weather continues. Late planted cotton will make up approximately one-third of the acreage and this late planted cotton would benefit some by a good rain. However, farmers with open cotton in their fields do not want a rain.

Practically all of our stripper type cotton is defoliated with a desiccant when 75 to 80 percent of the bolls are open. A desiccant is usually an acid and is used to kill the leaves for stripper harvesting. A true defoliant is usually a chlorate material and is used to not only kill the cotton leaves but to cause them to drop to the ground for machine picking the cotton.

All of our upland cotton in Milam County is harvested with a stripper with only a limited acreage of long staple varieties harvested with a picker.

Questions were received concerning the use of 2,4-D in connection with cotton defoliation. A clause in the state herbicide law allows the use of 2,4-D on cotton for harvesting purposes after August 25 without a permit.

The purpose of using 2,4-D is to temporarily stop stalk growth for a short period of time to allow better defoliation. In case a rain comes following the use of 2,4-D to the extent that harvest is delayed, regrowth may occur and require another application to stop the growth of the green leaves.

A statement should be made in regard to the use of 2,4-D as a defoliant. There is no clearance for the use of 2,4-D as a cotton defoliant according to our cotton specialist at A&M.

Cotton defoliation guides are available at the county agent's office in Cameron.

Final inspection has been made on Site No. 9 of the Donahoe Watershed program on the H. Moore farm east of Davilla by representatives of the Donahoe Creek Watershed Authority, Soil Conservation Service and the construction contractor.

The dam, spillway and denuded areas will be vegetated to grass as soon as possible. This job will be let under contract bid and will be inspected by technicians from the local SCS office at Bartlett.

Cooperator Roy Wilson of the Val Verde community is doing an excellent job of pasture management. Wilson has approximately 90 acres of pastureland, with about one-third in Coastal Bermuda and the rest in common Bermuda.

Wilson is leaving about a 6" height on his Coastal and from 4 to 5" on the common. Weeds have been controlled by shredding. He has been controlling his livestock rate by selling older cows. His total number of livestock is controlled to fit the weather conditions and to keep his permanent grass managed properly.

Beef Selection Programs Aid To Consumers

COLLEGE STATION

The beef cattle industry has enjoyed a tremendous increase in the consumption of beef, due in part to selection programs being employed by more and more breeders, says Dr. Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

Consumers are asking for and getting more muscular beef cuts along with more quality. Quality of lean and quantity of lean are not antagonistic, so a breeder can select for these two attributes at the same time.

Marbling, which is a measure of beef palatability and tenderness, muscling, fat covering on the outside of the carcass and fast gaining animals, are highly heritable. Therefore, all of these economically important beef carcass traits can be used in a selection program. But a breeder must also include in his selection program percent calf crop, weaning weight and feed efficiency in order to produce cattle economically, Orts says.

A breeder should secure carcass evaluation data on at least 15 steers or heifers from each sire to determine what type of carcasses his cattle are producing. This may be accomplished by enlisting in the various breed association carcass evaluation programs which offer a carcass evaluation service. A limited number of carcasses can be evaluated by Extension personnel. Local county Extension agents, said the specialist, can supply details on the evaluation programs.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GAY

Wedding In Mississippi For John C. Gay, Bride

Miss Wanda Lee Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alvin Garrison of Columbus, Miss., formerly of Tupelo, became the bride of John Christopher Gay, III, at 11 a.m. on July 20 at Parkway Baptist Church in Tupelo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christopher Gay, Jr., of Tupelo, former residents of Cameron.

The Rev. Robert Earl Shirley officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John Bowen, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white satin brocade featuring a train extending from the shoulders and long fitted sleeves that ended in lily points. Her fingertip veil of illusion hung from a headpiece of rosebuds and leaves embroidered with pearls. She carried a cascade of margarite daisies and white elegance carnations centered with a white orchdi.

Miss Loretta Garrison of Columbus, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Carol Garrison of Columbus served her sister as bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of lime green chiffon over white taffeta and their headpieces of lime green chiffon rosebuds were attached to veils of matching tulle. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow daisies.

John C. Gay, Jr., father of the bridegroom, was best man. Paul Gay, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman.

Parents of the bride entertained with a reception at the home of the bridal couple following the ceremony.

Mrs. Roger Morgan presided over registering guests at a table accented by an anniversary candle placed in an arrangement of white pom-poms, white and yellow daises, fern and ivy.

The bride's table, covered with lime green overlaid with white net, held the wedding cake decorated with white spun sugar roses surrounded by green leaves and topped by double white wedding bells. Mrs. Paul Dallas and Mrs. Jesse French served the cake and punch. Miss Susan Hudson distributed rice bags.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple is at home in Tupelo at 1122 Blair Street.

Library Is Setting For School Reception, Show

An apple for the teacher and red carnations for an A-plus start were table decorations for a reception Thursday afternoon honoring St. Anthony and Cameron Public School faculties.

A fashion showing of fall clothes, sponsored by Friends of the Cameron Public Library, immediately followed the teachers reception.

Guests were greeted at the door by Gene Smitherman, Chamber of Commerce president, and Mrs. Smitherman, Chamber secretary - manager. Also welcoming teachers and other guests were L. W. Stroup, Chamber Education Committee chairman and Miss Mildred Thornton, hostess for the reception.

Fashions from McIntosh's, J. C. Penney, Back Door Shoppe and Schigut's were modeled following the reception. The fashion show opened the program year for Friends of the Cameron Public Library.

Commentators for the showing of children's, teens' and women's clothes were Mrs. Perry Holder and Miss Mildred Thornton.

Clothes modeled featured the belted waist for girls' back to school fashions and turtle neck sweaters and Nehru jackets for high school boys.

Punch, tea sandwiches and cookies were served following the program and yearbooks were presented to Library Friends members.

Hostesses for the opening program were Pleasure and Profit Club and Business and Professional Women's Club.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The following letters were recently anwered by the Department of State.

TRAVEL TO FRANCE

My son has been accepted at the Alliance Francaise in Paris, France for his third year of college. With all of the turmoil in France, both politically and among the students, I am deeply concerned about my son spending a year in Paris.

An early reply from you would be appreciated stating your opinions as to the advisability of sending my son to Paris during such a crucial period.

S.B.
Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dear S.B.:

At the present time we are not advising travellers to refrain from going to France. The situation there has become calmer and there are thousands of Americans still in France who have no plans to leave.

We cannot, of course, state categorically that the situation in France will not deteriorate in the future. In the last resort I suggest that you be guided by developments in the next few weeks before your son leaves.

RELATIONS WITH RED CHINA

We are continuing our study about the relationship between the United States and communist China which you probably know is a national study item of the League of Women Voters.

Many of our members have asked the following question: If we lowered the trade embargo between our two countries, or exchanged scholars, or newsmen -- assuming the Peking government would do this - would we have to maintain a skeleton consular staff in mainland China to protect American interests and property? Would this type of recognition be possible even if we did not, at this time, exchange ambassadors?

We have asked this question of professors studying the Chinese political situation and have not received any one definitive answer. Therefore, we would like to have your opinion about this matter.

Mrs. G.P.
Tacoma, Wash.

Dear Mrs. G.P.:

There is no absolute requirement that we have consular representation in a country with which we trade or in which American citizens live or travel. For example, there are no U.S. restrictions on travel to Albania and in fact a number of Americans do visit that country, although the U.S. does not have diplomatic or consular representation there and does not recognize the present regime in power in Albania.

Consular relations, under international practice, are possible in the absence of diplomatic relations. For example, the United States does not how have diplomatic relations with several Middle East countries (i.e., Algeria and the United Arab Republic). We do, however, maintain consular relations and have consular personnel in those countries. Normally, however, a government would not have either consular or diplomatic relations with a regime that it does not recognize. As you know, the U.S. does not recognize the Communist regime in Mainland China. On the other hand, in some special situations a country may maintain a sort of "consular" representation in a country the government of which it does not recognize. A pertinent illustration is provided by the United Kingdoms relations with Communist China and the Republic of China. There is a British "Consulate" on Taiwan, although the United Kingdom recognizes the People's Republic of China and has a diplomatic representation in Peking.

Good Lighting For Study

COLLEGE STATION

With school season comes study time. Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, stresses the inportance of good lighting in study centers. A well-lighted desk makes it easier to concentrate and avoid eyestrain and physical tension.

To study, use a lamp correctly placed and fitted with a 200-watt bulb. If you do not have a diffuser on the lamp, wise a white bulb to reduce glare, suggests the Texas A&M University specialist.

Place the lamp so the center of the lampshade is about 15 inches to the left of the work center and the lamp about 12 inches back of the front edge of the table for a right handed person.

Several lamp manufacturers make a change, it will not be to now are making specially designed higher-wattage study lamps which produce nearly twice as much light as other lamps and spread light over a wider area. They also reduce glare, says Miss Lay.

Tags attached to these lamps say, "This is a Better Light Better Sight Bureau Study Lamp."

Miss Lay gives some other suggestions to improve light in a study center:

-Choose a desk with a light-colored, nonglossy finish.

-Use a light-colored blotter or desk pad.

-Paint walls in neutral or light colors or select a plain wallpaper or one with a small, quiet design.

-Make sure that the desk does not face a window.

Farmers Union Confused With Protest Movement, Says Naman

An official in the state Farmers Union office at Waco has expressed concern over what he considers "widespread misunderstanding" by farmers and the general public which confuses National Farmers Union (NFU) with a midwest-based protest movement, because of similarity of names.

The spokesman for the Texas affiliate of the National Farmers Union, its state president, Jay Naman of Waco, issued the following statement:

"Texas Farmers Union is an affiliate of National Farmers Union which has been a spokesman for farm and ranch producers for over 60 years. It is not a secret organization. Both state and national organizations are legally chartered and the number of members which compose our state and national organization is public information.

"Our program objectives are developed by our membership through democratic process at the state and national convention. The officials of the Farmers Union must be responsive to the policies adopted by the membership. Farmers Union is an organization - not a protest movement.

"We do not make any exaggerated claims as to what we accomplish for our members or offer panaceas for the troubles in agriculture.

"We do not offer any quick, simple solutions for the complicated problems of agriculture.

"We do not ask our members to wastefully destroy their commodities or create bitter local disputes that result in violence.

"We do not ask our members to sign contracts committing them to the performance of acts which they might find unwise or undesirable. We do not obligate them for the payment of fees or assessments in the future."

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

The approaching election of ASC community committees for farm program administration in Milam County was announced today by Ted Ford, chairman of the ASC County Committee. He called attention to the fact that the community committee elections this year are being held during the third week of September in all agricultural communities throughout the nation in an effort to increase the awareness of this important farm program function on eligible voters.

The farmer - committee system is a unique means of administering national agricultural programs and policies.

The community committees assist the ASC county committee in administering the price support, acreage diversion, agricultural conservation, and other farm action programs in the county. They are particularly responsible for keeping their neighbors informed about the programs. The county committee supervises the ASCS county office and is responsible for the local administration of the various programs.

Voting will be by mail, and ballots are being sent to each known eligible voter. In case voters fail to receive a ballot through the mail, call at the county office to obtain one.

Generally, a farm owner, tenant, or share-cropper is eligible to vote if he is eligible to take part in one or more of the programs administered by the ASC committees. Eligibility to vote or to hold office as a committeeman is not restricted by reason of sex, race, color, religion, or national origin.

Marked ballots may be mailed or returned to the ASCS County office anytime before September 18. Ballots will be tabulated by the county committee September 19 at 9 a.m. at the Milam County

Questions on eligibility to vote and to hold office or on the election procedure will be determined by the ASC county committee subject to appeal to the ASC State Committee.

Health Care Cost Is HEW Meeting Topic

How to meet the problem of rising health care costs will be the main topic for discussion at a December meeting in Dallas. It will be one of a series of nine conferences throughout the country sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The Dallas conference will bring together, by invitation, the leaders of the health community, the insurance industry, labor, and the general public to discuss the problems of rising health care costs as they relate to the Southwest.

Wayman E. Register, regional commissioner of HEW's Social Security Administration is organizing the Dallas conference. Register explained that a major goal will be to stimulate innovations in the delivery of health services. In this connection, the conference will serve as a forum for discussing experimental projects already underway in the area.

County Agent's Notes...

Cotton Harvest Gets Underway

By J. D. Moore

Cotton harvest will get underway during early September with a light harvest expected the first ten days if dry weather continues. Late planted cotton will make up approximately one-third of the acreage and this late planted cotton would benefit some by a good rain. However, farmers with open cotton in their fields do not want a rain.

Practically all of our stripper type cotton is defoliated with a desiccant when 75 to 80 percent of the bolls are open. A desiccant is usually an acid and is used to kill the leaves for stripper harvesting. A true defoliant is usually a chlorate material and is used to not only kill the cotton leaves but to cause them to drop to the ground for machine picking the cotton.

All of our upland cotton in Milam County is harvested with a stripper with only a limited acreage of long staple varieties harvested with a picker.

Questions were received concerning the use of 2,4-D in connection with cotton defoliation. A clause in the state herbicide law allows the use of 2,4-D on cotton for harvesting purposes after August 25 without a permit.

The purpose of using 2,4-D is to temporarily stop stalk growth for a short period of time to allow better defoliation. In case a rain comes following the use of 2,4-D to the extent that harvest is delayed, regrowth may occur and require another application to stop the growth of the green leaves.

A statement should be made in regard to the use of 2,4-D as a defoliant. There is no clearance for the use of 2,4-D as a cotton defoliant according to our cotton specialist at A&M.

Cotton defoliation guides are available at the county agent's office in Cameron.

Final inspection has been made on Site No. 9 of the Donahoe Watershed program on the H. Moore farm east of Davilla by representatives of the Donahoe Creek Watershed Authority, Soil Conservation Service and the construction contractor.

The dam, spillway and denuded areas will be vegetated to grass as soon as possible. This job will be let under contract bid and will be inspected by technicians from the local SCS office at Bartlett.

Cooperator Roy Wilson of the Val Verde community is doing an excellent job of pasture management. Wilson has approximately 90 acres of pastureland, with about one-third in Coastal Bermuda and the rest in common Bermuda.

Wilson is leaving about a 6" height on his Coastal and from 4 to 5" on the common. Weeds have been controlled by shredding. He has been controlling his livestock rate by selling older cows. His total number of livestock is controlled to fit the weather conditions and to keep his permanent grass managed properly.

Beef Selection Programs Aid To Consumers

COLLEGE STATION

The beef cattle industry has enjoyed a tremendous increase in the consumption of beef, due in part to selection programs being employed by more and more breeders, says Dr. Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

Consumers are asking for and getting more muscular beef cuts along with more quality. Quality of lean and quantity of lean are not antagonistic, so a breeder can select for these two attributes at the same time.

Marbling, which is a measure of beef palatability and tenderness, muscling, fat covering on the outside of the carcass and fast gaining animals, are highly heritable. Therefore, all of these economically important beef carcass traits can be used in a selection program. But a breeder must also include in his selection program percent calf crop, weaning weight and feed efficiency in order to produce cattle economically, Orts says.

A breeder should secure carcass evaluation data on at least 15 steers or heifers from each sire to determine what type of carcasses his cattle are producing. This may be accomplished by enlisting in the various breed association carcass evaluation programs which offer a carcass evaluation service. A limited number of carcasses can be evaluated by Extension personnel. Local county Extension agents, said the specialist, can supply details on the evaluation programs.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GAY

Wedding In Mississippi For John C. Gay, Bride

Miss Wanda Lee Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alvin Garrison of Columbus, Miss., formerly of Tupelo, became the bride of John Christopher Gay, III, at 11 a.m. on July 20 at Parkway Baptist Church in Tupelo.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christopher Gay, Jr., of Tupelo, former residents of Cameron.

The Rev. Robert Earl Shirley officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John Bowen, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white satin brocade featuring a train extending from the shoulders and long fitted sleeves that ended in lily points. Her fingertip veil of illusion hung from a headpiece of rosebuds and leaves embroidered with pearls. She carried a cascade of margarite daisies and white elegance carnations centered with a white orchdi.

Miss Loretta Garrison of Columbus, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Carol Garrison of Columbus served her sister as bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of lime green chiffon over white taffeta and their headpieces of lime green chiffon rosebuds were attached to veils of matching tulle. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow daisies.

John C. Gay, Jr., father of the bridegroom, was best man. Paul Gay, brother of the bridegroom was groomsman.

Parents of the bride entertained with a reception at the home of the bridal couple following the ceremony.

Mrs. Roger Morgan presided over registering guests at a table accented by an anniversary candle placed in an arrangement of white pom-poms, white and yellow daises, fern and ivy.

The bride's table, covered with lime green overlaid with white net, held the wedding cake decorated with white spun sugar roses surrounded by green leaves and topped by double white wedding bells. Mrs. Paul Dallas and Mrs. Jesse French served the cake and punch. Miss Susan Hudson distributed rice bags.

After a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the couple is at home in Tupelo at 1122 Blair Street.

Library Is Setting For School Reception, Show

An apple for the teacher and red carnations for an A-plus start were table decorations for a reception Thursday afternoon honoring St. Anthony and Cameron Public School faculties.

A fashion showing of fall clothes, sponsored by Friends of the Cameron Public Library, immediately followed the teachers reception.

Guests were greeted at the door by Gene Smitherman, Chamber of Commerce president, and Mrs. Smitherman, Chamber secretary-manager. Also welcoming teachers and other guests were L. W. Stroup, Chamber Education Committee chairman and Miss Mildred Thornton, hostess for the reception.

Fashions from McIntosh's, J. C. Penney, Back Door Shoppe and Schigut's were modeled following the reception. The fashion show opened the program year for Friends of the Cameron Public Library.

Commentators for the showing of children's, teens' and women's clothes were Mrs. Perry Holder and Miss Mildred Thornton.

Clothes modeled featured the belted waist for girls' back to school fashions and turtle neck sweaters and Nehru jackets for high school boys.

Punch, tea sandwiches and cookies were served following the program and yearbooks were presented to Library Friends members.

Hostesses for the opening program were Pleasure and Profit Club and Business and Professional Women's Club.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The following letters were recently anwered by the Department of State.

TRAVEL TO FRANCE

My son has been accepted at the Alliance Francaise in Paris, France for his third year of college. With all of the turmoil in France, both politically and among the students, I am deeply concerned about my son spending a year in Paris.

An early reply from you would be appreciated stating your opinions as to the advisability of sending my son to Paris during such a crucial period.

S.B.
Santa Barbara, Calif.

Dear S.B.:

At the present time we are not advising travellers to refrain from going to France. The situation there has become calmer and there are thousands of Americans still in France who have no plans to leave.

We cannot, of course, state categorically that the situation in France will not deteriorate in the future. In the last resort I suggest that you be guided by developments in the next few weeks before your son leaves.

RELATIONS WITH RED CHINA

We are continuing our study about the relationship between the United States and communist China which you probably know is a national study item of the League of Women Voters.

Many of our members have asked the following question: If we lowered the trade embargo between our two countries, or exchanged scholars, or newsmen -- assuming the Peking government would do this - would we have to maintain a skeleton consular staff in mainland China to protect American interests and property? Would this type of recognition be possible even if we did not, at this time, exchange ambassadors?

We have asked this question of professors studying the Chinese political situation and have not received any one definitive answer. Therefore, we would like to have your opinion about this matter.

Mrs. G.P.
Tacoma, Wash.

Dear Mrs. G.P.:

There is no absolute requirement that we have consular representation in a country with which we trade or in which American citizens live or travel. For example, there are no U.S. restrictions on travel to Albania and in fact a number of Americans do visit that country, although the U.S. does not have diplomatic or consular representation there and does not recognize the present regime in power in Albania.

Consular relations, under international practice, are possible in the absence of diplomatic relations. For example, the United States does not how have diplomatic relations with several Middle East countries (i.e., Algeria and the United Arab Republic). We do, however, maintain consular relations and have consular personnel in those countries. Normally, however, a government would not have either consular or diplomatic relations with a regime that it does not recognize. As you know, the U.S. does not recognize the Communist regime in Mainland China. On the other hand, in some special situations a country may maintain a sort of "consular" representation in a country the government of which it does not recognize. A pertinent illustration is provided by the United Kingdoms relations with Communist China and the Republic of China. There is a British "Consulate" on Taiwan, although the United Kingdom recognizes the People's Republic of China and has a diplomatic representation in Peking.

Good Lighting For Study

COLLEGE STATION With school season comes study time. Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, stresses the inportance of good lighting in study centers. A well-lighted desk makes it easier to concentrate and avoid eyestrain and physical tension.

To study, use a lamp correctly placed and fitted with a 200-watt bulb. If you do not have a diffuser on the lamp, wise a white bulb to reduce glare, suggests the Texas A&M University specialist.

Place the lamp so the center of the lampshade is about 15 inches to the left of the work center and the lamp about 12 inches back of the front edge of the table for a right handed person.

Several lamp manufacturers make a change, it will not be to now are making specially designed higher-wattage study lamps which produce nearly twice as much light as other lamps and spread light over a wider area. They also reduce glare, says Miss Lay.

Tags attached to these lamps say, "This is a Better Light Better Sight Bureau Study Lamp."

Miss Lay gives some other suggestions to improve light in a study center:

-Choose a desk with a light-colored, nonglossy finish.

-Use a light-colored blotter or desk pad.

-Paint walls in neutral or light colors or select a plain wallpaper or one with a small, quiet design.

-Make sure that the desk does not face a window.

Return, 'Good King Wenceslaus' . . . .

What can we learn from now humbled Czechoslovakia?

We again know, those under or over 30, that communism is cynical dictatorship, espousing a popular line lengthened by the Red Army.

We know heroics of Alexander Dubcek's quality are cynically taken in, that heroics without means to valor, physical opposition are of no lasting concern to communism.

We know a man like Dubcek comes along only once in a decade, perhaps in a generation among a subjugated people, and his shattered hopes for Western freedoms within an intrinsically Eastern ethos are inevitable. There is something oriental about the Russian Passion of communist response to Czarist orthodoxy.

We know Czechoslovakia is a nation of proud people who are victims of historical amalgamation from the Hapsburgs to Brezhnev-Kosygin.

We know Central and Eastern Europe share many similarities with Western Russia, except that Russia extends to the Bering Sea.

We know the Soviet "monolith," the term disparagingly articulated by ultra liberals, must remain so, contrasted to a querulous monotheism of the West.

We know a clash over such a putsch, like Vietnam, is disastrous in ideal and in fact, but unavoidable if commitment is made.

We know even the young still cannot blithely believe that communism reasons inside or outside its own sanctums.

We know communism commits only to direct confrontation after attrition fails between a fringe like Cuba or Vietnam or Czechoslovakia and the West, either in ideal or fact.

We know that flowers still grow beneath the statue of the good King Wenceslaus somewhere in Prague, but the soil is tilled by disillusioned Czechs who must wonder when another Dubcek or the legendary Wenceslaus reincarnate will save their tiny country.

Newly Emerged Broadly Splintered. . . . .

We note the American Psychological Association has boycotted Chicago following the televised street scenes outside the Amphitheatre and Loop hotels.

It is said it will cost $5 million, mostly to Chicago hotels and eateries which cater to such a scheduled convention of 14,000.

We bet it costs Chicago more than a convention of psychologists. It may cost Chicago a mayor, whose confidence was enormous in containing, though he did, the anticipated onslaught of "unwashed and idealistic." No one knows whether the Democratic Convention would have exploded quite so in another city.

It would have functioned with fewer impediments. Strikes by taxi drivers, telephone workers among other considerations were not underway elsewhere. We don't recall any other American political convention being conducted behind wire barricades.

Dallas was stigmatized for President Kennedy's assassination for a time. It recovered while the "indignation" rallies ceased.

Perhaps Chicago's mayor credited with contributing to Kennedy's election, met his civic responsibilities, but suffered prestige loss in this Democratic Party, newly emerged broadly splintered.

Projects Named For County Roads

The Texas Highway Commission today approved the expenditure of $190,500 for highway safety and betterment and improvement of the farm to market road system in Milam County during 1969.

District Engineer Joe G. Hanover of Bryan said that a total of 64.8 highway miles in Milam County will be involved in the annual program. Work will be under the supervision of W. J. Byford, resident engineer, Bryan.

The work is part of the Highway Commission's combined Farm to Market Road Improvement and State Highway Safety and Betterment Program for 1969.

The following projects will take place in Milam County:

—FM 486 - from US 79 at Thorndale south to Williamson County line, about 6.3 miles - seal coat.

—FM 487 - from FM 1712 to Bell County line, about 21.1 miles - recondition base on sections and seal coat.

—FM 1786 - from US 79 south, about 4.2 miles - additional surface.

—FM 2269 - from FM 485 to US 190 west of Cameron, about 10.0 miles - recondition base on sections and seal coat.

—US 79 - from Gause to Brazos River, about 5.2 miles - recondition base on sections and seal coat.

—US 190 - from US 77 near Cameron to Brazos River, about 18.0 miles - recondition base on sections and seal coat.

Newcomers Can Vote For President Under New Rule

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Until this year no one could vote in any election in Texas unless he had lived in the state for a full year. "Not so now," says Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera.

As the result of a statute passed by the Texas Legislature in 1967, following voter approval of a constitutional amendment in 1966, voting rules have been changed.

Barrera, as the state's chief election officer, advises that any citizen of the United States, 21 years of age or older, who has resided in Texas less than one year and for at least 60 days as of the day of the election, who satisfies the conditions of a qualified voter in the state from whence he came to Texas and would have been qualified to vote had he remained there, may vote in the Presidential Election here this fall.

However, Barrera points out, the voter cannot vote on any office except that of president and vice president of the United States.

Furthermore, he must apply for a ballot at the office of the county clerk in the county of his residence — sometime during a 15-day period beginning September 6. If the voter has an official document attesting to the fact that he was a registered voter in the state of his former residence, he should take that document with him when he applies for his ballot. This will eliminate the necessity of the clerk verifying eligibility at the place of his former residence.

It is important to note too, says Barrera, that once declared eligible to vote, the newcomer must cast his ballot in the county clerk's office, not on November 5, the general election date, but sometime during the 15-day period preceding the general election.

STATE INCOME TAX TALKS

Constitutional Revision Commission finished its first full review of recommendations for a new constitution after a battle royal on the question of state income taxation.

Commission would up recommending that the current provision allowing an income tax be retained but there was considerable support for prohibiting income taxes.

Revenue and Taxation Committee, headed by George Wilson of Dallas, president of Lone Star Steel Co., had recommended retention of the clause authorizing such a tax. But Wilson quickly joined forces with Houston Rep. Bill Archer during the full commission meeting in an effort to forbid income taxation.

Wilson said a prohibition on the income tax "would be helpful to our chambers of commerce in recruiting industry." San Antonio Mayor Walter McAllister termed income taxes "socialistic, communistic and Marxistic."

By a vote of 7-5 (most of the 25-man commission were absent or failed to vote) the prohibition of the income tax was approved. But Denton Rep. Alonzo Jamison forced reconsideration of the issue when he moved that the sales tax be limited to its current level, "if we are going to bind the hands of the legislature in the matter of one tax."

Wilson and Archer were strongly opposed to restricting the sales tax level, but Dallas Times Herald Editor Felix McKnight, who had voted with Wilson, changed his mind and said he thought decisions on tax policy should not be made by a constitutional drafting body. He moved for reconsideration.

By a 10-2 vote the income tax prohibition was opened for reconsideration, and the prohibition on income tax was then defeated by a vote of 9-6.

Commission will meet again in late September to look after actual drafting work. The proposed charter will be submitted to the legislature in January.

WALLACE PARTY IN AUSTIN . .

Bard Logan, State Chairman of the American Party and the George Wallace presidential campaign, has started a week-day schedule of working in Austin in the American Party headquarters at 506 International Life Building.

"I have made my wife a 'political widow'," Logan said, "I'm staying in Austin during the week and trying to get home to San Antonio weekends until the campaign gets too heavy, and she's running my business for me back home."

Logan denied reports that his party moved its headquarters from Austin to New Braunfels, explaining, "I presided at the official opening of the New Braunfels local headquarters, and some people thought we had moved there. But we have not. We are right here in Austin.

TEXAS STOCK EXCHANGE

A legislative committee and the University of Texas at Austin will begin a study this fall on the feasibility of a Southwest stock exchange centered in Texas.

Advocates of the idea say that Texas and Southwestern stock market transactions have grown so much in recent years that such an exchange soon will be a necessity and may be desirable now.

Rep. Dave Finney of Fort Worth chairs the committee, which includes Reps. Don Cavness of Austin and Dick McKissack of Dallas. The UT research will be carried on by Dr. Ernest W. Walker, professor of finance, and a graduate student.

They will report to the 61st Legislature in January.

ANTHRAX REPORTED

Texas Animal Health Commission has received a report on an outbreak of deadly anthrax disease in the area around the juncture of Val Verde, Kinney and Edwards Counties.

Nine premises have reported deaths from the disease among cattle, horses and deer.

Commission also reported 696 screwworm cases confirmed in July. Mexico reported 1,982 cases in roughly the same period.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

Last week during the Democratic National Covenntion a friend asked me to come over to his house and watch the show in color—my set is black and white when it's functioning and mostly snow the rest of the time, which is confusing because half the time the fun is in watching the delegates read newspapers or walk around since most of the speeches are the same anyway—and the first thing I noticed when I settled down in front of the set was that the speaker on the platform was wearing a blue shirt.

"Blue shirt?" I asked. "How come?" I figured it was only natural to wear a white shirt at funerals, weddings and political conventions.

"Oh, this is color television," it was explained. "White shirts don't show up too good in color."

I got to looking closer and sure enough, practically all the men had on blue shirts.

What I'm wondering now is, as more and more people get color TV, will they paint the White House blue, and what'll they do in the winter time about photographing a snow scene?

Another thing that impressed me about the Chicago convention, the same as the one in Miami Beach, was the fact they ran out of barb-wire.

They had enough to go around the convention hall on the outside, but if they'd had more they could have run it down each side of the aisles, say about seven strands high, to fence the delegates in. It's the only way I see they'll ever keep the aisles clear. I don't know where the convention people, both Democratic and Republican, get their sergeants-at-arms, but I have never seen one yet that could clear the aisles, makes no difference how many times an hour the chairman orders them to.

If I'd known they had a shortage of wire I could have sent them some of mine. It's rusty and spliced in several places, but they'd been welcome to it, although I wouldn't have taken the job of stringing it. I'm not sure anybody can build a fence strong enough to turn a delegate.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.
